Introduction

This report provides details of ACT Research and Scholarship publications for 2023. In keeping with past years, the ACT Research Department collects and analyses publications and related scholarly activities for members of the ACT Consortium, including permanent, casual and adjunct faculty with an association with ACT and its Affiliated Colleges.

To meet the definition of 'research', a publication needs to demonstrate substantive new knowledge or the use of existing knowledge in a new and creative way so as to generate new concepts, methodologies and/or understandings. Publications that apply existing knowledge to church and other professional contexts, and/or synthesise existing knowledge, in ways that do not demonstrate substantive new knowledge, are classified as 'confessional scholarship'.

In making assessments of individual publications, the ACT Research Department considers the output itself, the quality of the outlet in which the output was published, the intended audience of the output and the weightiness of the subject matter and argumentation of the output. The ACT Journals and Publishers List is used as a guide, but it is not the primary basis for decisions. The ACT Journals and Publishers List is a professional development tool for ACT academics to learn more about typical university research assessment processes, and to encourage them to consider highly regarded journals and publishers for future publications. The ACT list of journals reflects a similar list developed by the Council of Deans of Theology of Australia.

The results of applying the 'research' and 'confessional scholarship' criteria to 2023 publication outputs are presented in this 2023 Research and Scholarship Report. All 'research' (and almost all 'confessional scholarship') reported is in the field of Religious Studies (ASCED 091703). The Appendix of this report gives the research and confessional scholarship of ACT HDR supervisors whose primary academic affiliation is elsewhere. These are not counted in the ACT figures presented in this report.

In Research there are four sub-categories: books 📖, book chapters 📄, journal articles 📄, and refereed conference proceedings. In Confessional Scholarship there are eight sub-categories: books 📖, book chapters 📄, journal articles 📄, refereed conference proceedings, edited books 📖, conference presentations 🗣️, book reviews 📄, and dictionary/handbook entries 📖.

When refereed conference proceedings have been published as edited book volumes with an ISBN, as is usually the case in Religious Studies, individual contributions have been included in our count as book chapters – hence the reason for the zero values reported here (despite the higher values in this category in some other disciplines). Papers presented at conferences which have not yet been published are recorded as conference presentations. These are often revised and subsequently published as peer-reviewed journal articles or book chapters which are then categorised as research or scholarship, as appropriate.

In terms of Table 1, multiple authored items are only counted once. Scores are weighted five points per book (in accordance with common academic practice) and weighted to adjust for non-ACT authors.
